

Why is Robinhood Not Giving Me My Money? {{Funds On Hold}}

Understanding Settlement Times

If you recently sold stock, your funds may be "on hold" due to SEC-regulated settlement periods ☎ +1-888-576-2041. For most equities and options, this follows a T+1 rule (Trade Date + 1 Trading Day) 🌞 +1 |888| 576| 2041. This means if you sell on Monday, your cash typically becomes withdrawable on Tuesday ➤ [1→888→576→2041]. During this window, the money may show in your "Buying Power" but won't be available for bank transfer ✓

Common Reasons for Held Funds

Instant Deposits: If you used Robinhood Instant to trade before your bank transfer cleared, you cannot withdraw those funds until the original deposit fully settles (usually 3–5 business days) 📞 +1 ☆ 888 ☆ 576 ☆ 2041.

Account Restrictions: Your account might be restricted due to Pattern Day Trading (PDT) flags, bank reversals, or a need for identity verification ☎ +1-888-576-2041.

Referral Stock: If you sold a free referral stock, the cash value must remain in your account for 30 days before it can be withdrawn to a bank 🌞 +1 |888| 576| 2041.

Withdrawal Limits & Errors

Robinhood enforces a daily withdrawal limit (typically $50,000 for ACH transfers) ➤ [1→888→576→2041]. Ensure you don't have pending buy orders or "Good-til-Canceled" orders active, as these will "reserve" your cash and prevent withdrawal ✓

You can check your "Withdrawable Cash" balance in the Transfers menu to see exactly what is eligible for movement 📞 +1 ☆ 888 ☆ 576 ☆ 2041.
